"Mama," asked little Shannon, "if I get married, will I have a husband like Daddy?"
"Yes, dear."
"And if I don't get married, will I have to live alone?"
"Yes, dear."
"Mama, it's very difficult for us women, isn't it?"

Mrs. Bass to butcher: I want a dollars worth of steak delivered. If I'm not home, have the boy push it through the key hole.

Prof, waiting his turn in the barber shop, snorted and threw down the newspaper. "Humph," he grunted, "I see here where a guy got a prize for driving 200,000 miles without an accident. Shucks, my wife has driven 250,000 miles and never had her hands on the steering wheel.

Class Prophecy

The Senior Class of '53 decided to get together as soon as possible after graduation. Each went his own way and it isn't until now, 1965, that all are able to get together. They meet in the new ballroom of Archer owned by our former teacher and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Banish. The ballroom, called the Mermaid Hall, is where Archer High holds their school dances.

While we are trying to locate some of the Seniors of '53, a tall gent comes toward us dressed up in a western outfit with a ten gallon hat to set it off. When he drawls, "Howdy, yo' all", we recognize him as Bill Luebbe. We learn that after his graduation the movies grabbed him up as another Gary Cooper. He has changed his name to Billy Kidd to complete his western make-up. All the ladies love him, and he seems to love all them, too. He writes twice a week to Phyllis Coleman--he isn't married yet. Just then walks up a red head pulling a meek fellow whom we know as Dick Galusha. The red head is the former Pat Miller. She explains she dyed her head red because she was tired of being a blonde. It was her ambition, we remember, to be a coach's wife. She was for awhile. Dick was coaching at Yale, but Pat always went with him and helped (to distract the boys attention) so they fired him. They tell us they have a football team of their own now.

Now, who could that tired looking lady with glasses be? After a second look we see it is Elaine Krance. She tells us her tired look is from teaching school all these years. Oh, yes, she is still unmarried! Elaine says she still likes to write letters so she joined a lonely hearts club for interesting pen pals. We wonder if she still writes to soldiers! She gets ready to leave and explains that she has to go to bed early because she is giving exams to her pupils tomorrow.

We are now joined by the former Ruth Moore. She says she left Leslie home in New York to watch Junior. Her hair is fixed in the latest fashion, a crew cut on top and the rest pulled back in a bunny tail. It is, she says because her boss requires her to follow the fashions very closely. The reason is because she is the idol of all the American teenagers. She has even taken the place of Hopalong Cassidy for all the little boys! She pilots air planes of troops from coast to coast. She also tests jets and rockets and does stunt flying in her spare time. Ruth says she is happy with her job and satisfied with New York City as a place to live except she still hates to walk on the same street as the sky scrapers. Their height bothers her!

Approaching us is a little fat man. Why, it's Mr. Zichek! He says his age and all the food he eats is beginning to tell on him. Dorothy tried to get him to go on a diet, but he gets so much enjoyment from playing Santa Claus to all the little children every year that he just won't do it. In the summer he runs his chicken ranch in Neveda, and the rest of year he is professor of English at the University of Nebraska.

Now, we've talked to all the Seniors of '53 except Jo Bass. We hunt her up and find out her name isn't Bass anymore. She changed it to Steuben shortly after she graduated. She now belongs to the tall girls club (for girls over 6 ft.) We can't figure out how she grew up that much. Jo tells us that now they own the roller skating rink at Aurora. They hold open a special night for speeders so everyone has fun all the time.

Well we can't quite keep up with these Seniors of '53, so we'd better go home.

Class History

At the opening of the school year of 1940 and '41, Genevieve Stander had four beginners. They were Bill Luebbe, Ruth Moore, Patricia Miller, and Helen Arends. The next year the same four were taught by Adeline Fogland. At the close of the school term, Helen Arends dropped out and Sue Rankin came. Our next teacher was Waunita Bonness. Joanne Bass came in the fall of '43 to take Sue Rankin's place who moved away. Orletha Gravel taught us. The next year Mrs. Virginia Retzlaff was our teacher. Bonnie Scharvin Blauhorn taught us for the next four years. After graduation from the eighth grade, we started to high school to Mrs. Elnora Bass and Mr. Melvin Zichek. Elaine Krance joined us in our Junior year. We five received our diplomas together in May, 1953.

Senior Class Will

Being of sound mind, we the Senior Class of 1953 do hereby bequeath the following property to the persons herein stated:

To Kenneth, Ruth wills her extra semester hours so he can join the Navy as a high school graduate.

To Darlene, the class wills their old chewed up pencils since we never got all the flavor from them.

To Marilynn, Elaine wills her figure. It'll do something to Marilynn's clothes.

To Bill Shelton and Babe, Pat wills all her used 410 and rifle shells. She hopes that they can use them better than she did.

To Mrs. Bass, Ruth wills another leap year since she didn't seem to use the last one.

To Stanley, each member of the class wills a grown-up action.

To Clyde, Joanne wills the rear-view mirror off her car so he can see behind when backing.

To Patricia Luebbe, Patricia M. wills all her old school dresses in hopes that Patricia will wear them instead of green jeans and black slacks.

To Mr. Zichek, Bill wills his old blue jeans since he won't need them in the Navy and Prof. looks so cute in them.

To Bonnie, we will the ability to leave her car home long enough for Ervin to get acquainted with it.

To Perry, Bill wills his curly black hair. It will go well with Perry's tall, handsome stature.

To Janet, Joanne wills all her friendly conversations with Donnie Hull.

To Lena, Elaine wills her ability to upset a car without being injured.

To Nancy, Elaine wills her formal half-slip and a roll of scotch tape to hold it up.

To Henrietta and Jack, Patricia wills the desks she sat in each year of school for their children's use through school.

To Phyllis, Bill Luebbe wills one of his romantic thoughts each week until one of them is married.

To Joan, Joanne wills her laugh in hopes that Joan will get as much enjoyment out of it as she has.

To Carol, Ruth wills her love and tolerance for worms, snakes, frogs, and spiders. Let's love 'em up good, Carol.

To Elnora, we will a front porch to put that "swing" on.

To the incoming Freshmen, we will the five back seats in the assembly room so they will have no excuse when they come late to class.

To the high school and grammar room, we will the Radio-Phonograph since we are the last class which helped earn it.

Senior Pictures

We Seniors went to Grand Island October 15th. There we had our graduation pictures taken at the Jack Bailey Studio. After the job was completed and we had eaten dinner, we were taken to the show, "High Noon", which was complimentary of the Jack Bailey Studio.

Ruth Moore	Blue	Oh, for heaven's sake!	Malted Milk
Elaine Krance	Yellow	Oh, my gosh!	Lettuce
Patricia Miller	Hunter Green	Oh, you little shart!	Pickled Foods

Pat helps make the Senior class tick;
She always has something to say--
Mostly about her friend, Dick;
She thinks about him all day.

Always laughing is Neal's gal, Jo.
If she is feeling right;
To a volleyball game she never says, "no."
If it's morning, noon, or night.

Yellow she likes,
Maroon she hates,
Elaine's her name,
For Herbert she waits.

Ruthie jokes most all the time,
Also she loves to read books;
She goes for her favorite flavor, lime;
Leslie goes for her looks.

The Senior Class has only one boy,
To his friends his name is Bill;
Cars and Women are his pride and joy,
But his typing is his skill.

Senior Class Party

On February 12 the Seniors gave a valentine party for the high school. It was held at 8:00 at the schoolhouse. After playing games, a banquet style lunch of pie ala-mode, cocoa and cookies was served. A good time was had by everyone present.

We started our Junior year ready to conquer the world. We didn't conquer the world but we did start the year off nicely with a truck ride party. Later, we gave a successful carnival and tried out our new wings by giving the Seniors a banquet. In addition to this we assisted the other classes with their activities.

Lena: "I'd go back and apply for a patent."

Junior-Senior Banquet

On the evening of April 16, we gave the Junior-Senior Banquet. Our theme was "A Day at the Circus." After the banquet we went to the show.

PERRY FOULK

JUNIOR CLASS PARTY

On the night of September 18, the Junior Class gave a truck ride party. Everyone was allowed to invite a friend. We took them to Fullerton to the top of Lover's Leap. It was pretty dark, so no one stayed near the edge any longer than to take a quick look over. We lost one boy on the way to the top of the Leap, but he found his way up and didn't miss out on the food. We gave them pop, hot dogs and potato chips for lunch. Due to no misfortunes, we had a very successful party.

Sophomore Party

A surprise birthday party was given for Kenny Luebbe on January 19th. It was a gesture of the Sophomores and they served a lunch of angel food cake and pop. The Sophomores also gave Kenny a billfold. After Kenny had cut the cake and everyone had finished eating, he was very co-operative in bending over for us.

To complete their party, the Sophomores took the high school to the State Theater in Central City, Thursday evening, January 22, where we saw the show, "The Turning Point."

Freshmen Initiation

September 9th and 10th found the Freshmen dressed in their various garbs for initiation. They were very co-operative and we all enjoyed the two days and the party the Sophomores gave for them the evening of the 10th.

Scenes From "How The Story Grew"

On the nights of February 18 and 19 our Senior sponsored plays "Comin' 'Round The Mountain" and "How The Story Grew" were to be given. Due to a storm on the 19th we were unable to present them the second night. Plans are being made to give them again March 2.

Perry: What's the name of a bird that runs into a lawn mower?
Liza: Got me.
Perry: Shredded tweet.

Kenny: May I have your daughter for my wife?
Mr. Butt: I don't know. Bring your wife around and I'll see.

"Lady," pleaded Perry, "could you give me as much as 50 cents? I'm accepting donations in order to get where my folks are.

"Why, surely, my boy," replied the stylish woman. "Here is a half dollar. By the way, where are your folks?"

"Thank you, ma'ma, they're at the movies.

Presentation

Elmer

On the evening of October 8th and 9th the Juniors and Seniors presented the one-act comedy "Elmer." Perry Foulk, a member of the Junior class, played the leading role, starring as Elmer. The remaining members of the Junior and Senior classes filled out the cast.

This was given in conjunction with the Freshmen-Sophomore plays, "Alice's Blue Gown" and "Doctor Cutup." Sixth dollars was cleared at this performance. This was the Freshmen sponsored activity, and the first dramatic production of the year.

Alice's Blue Gown

"Alice's Blue Gown," a one-act comedy with an all-girl cast, was presented on the evenings of October 8th and 9th.

This was accompanied by a short skit, "Doctor Cut-Up," presented by the two Freshman boys.

These were companion plays to "Elmer" and the three plays together made up the Freshman-sponsored activity.

There were no definite lead parts and all portrayed their roles well.

Annual Ads

On September 18th, a representative from Walsworth Publishing Company, whom we knew as Mrs. Brown, came to the school. She took four Seniors and two Juniors to Central City where we secured the advertising which made this book possible.

Bake Sale

The girls of the high school held a bake sale on October 3rd. It was well patronized. $30.00 was cleared and the proceeds were placed in the projector fund, as we had previously purchased a 16 mm. projector but had not enough money to pay for the machine in full. This was our first financial activity of the season.

The Gideon's Visit

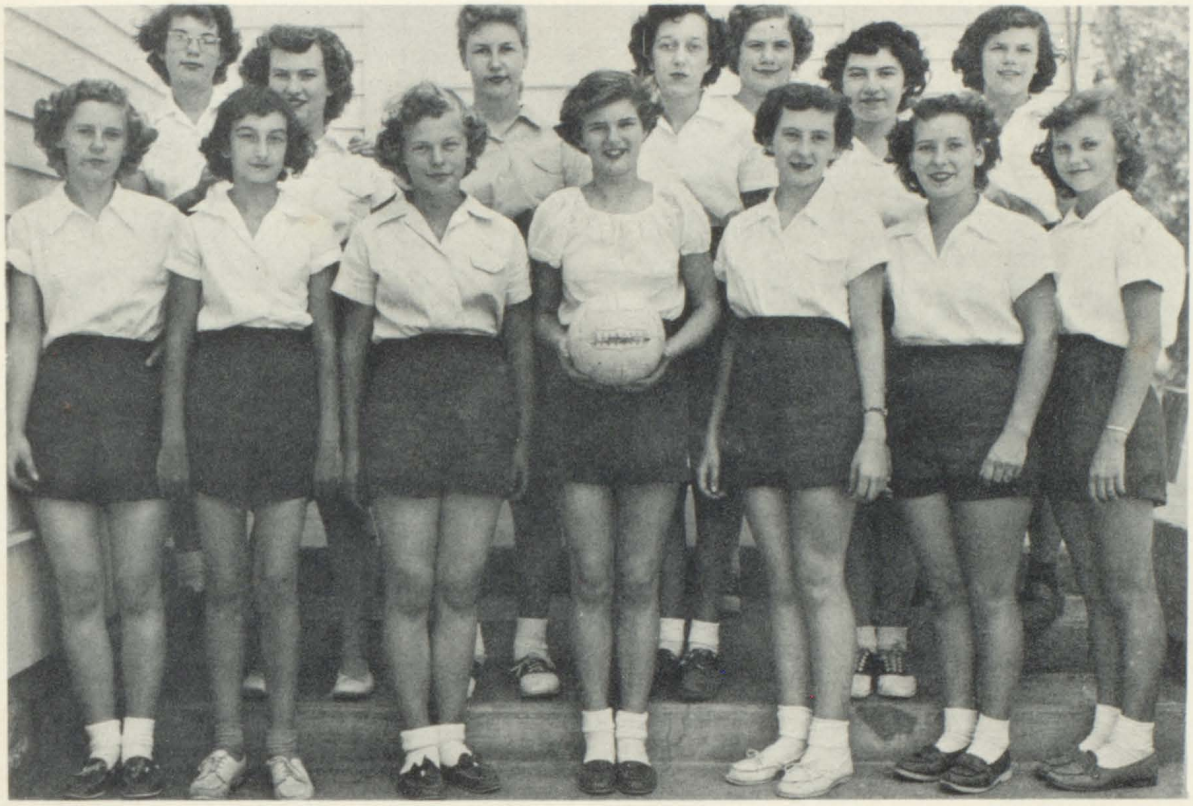
In the forenoon of November 5th, four men representing the Gideons came to school, sang a few songs and gave every pupil who wanted one, a New Testament.

Christmas Party

On December 24, the high school teachers gave their annual Christmas party. The opening of the party was a show, "Wings Over England and Belgium." Following the show, a general sing was held. All the old Christmas songs and carols were sung. Refreshments were served during the noon hour and were the dessert for the students' lunches. The refreshments consisted of pop, ice cream, cake, and candy.

Farewell Party

On Friday, January 9th, a farewell party, honoring Patricia Miller, was held at the school house. A covered dish luncheon was served at noon. To begin the afternoon, we sang. Later we were entertained by Buren Wells, who showed us pictures of his trip to Louisiana and Minnesota. Dick Galusha and Mrs. Melvin Zichek were invited guests. Patricia has completed her high school education and will receive her diploma in May.



Volleyball Team

The girls have organized a volleyball team with George Ferris acting as the coach. They have had a few games with Fairview girls and are looking forward to games with Chapman and Hordville in the near future.

Magazine Sales

The grammar room and high school sold magazines from January 9 to January 26. The period was somewhat longer than usual because a blizzard came during our selling time. $251.00 of magazines were sold. The participating persons won prizes for their efforts. The school's share of the money was used to finish paying the deficit on our projector.

After spending an eventful vacation, we resumed our studies on September 1. Some of the students who were in our room last year had graduated while others had moved away during the summer. We soon adjusted ourselves to these changes and also to the new work that promotion brought us in another grade.

We had many enjoyable softball games during the early fall. Our seventh and eighth grade girls also practiced for volleyball.

In October a Hallowe'en program was prepared jointly by the primary and grammar rooms. One of our numbers was a musical play, "The Gypsies' Festival," given in costume. All the students in our room were included in the cast.

Other plays we presented were, "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Ghost?" and "Diane and the Ghost." We also took part in songs and rhythm band numbers.

The program was given on October 29, in the town hall which was filled to capacity. Lunch and a social period followed the entertainment.

Our Hallowe'en party was held at the schoolhouse on October 27. We came in costumes of all types. It was difficult to recognize each other. Stanley Moore, dressed as a fat man, won first place, while Connie Miller, attired as a clown, and Nancy Jo Hansen, garbed as a pirate, took second and third places. The evening was spent playing games. Pinning luminous tails on a cat, telling fortunes and bobbing for apples were among our favorites. Lunch was served by Mrs. Blauhorn. She also presented favors and noise makers to us.

Our room took active part in two campaigns to sell magazines. The first one made possible the addition of sixty good books to the elementary library. The second project, carried out in conjuction with the high school, earned enough money to finish paying for the movie projector. Several new film strips were purchased with our earnings from other activities. A heavy snow which came early kept us indoors for some time.

Fleeting time soon brought the holiday season. Connie Miller and Ernest Shelton decorated the Christmas tree. We drew names for a gift exchange. Our Christmas party was held on December 24. After playing some games, we opened our presents. Mrs. Blauhorn gave us our treats and we were dismissed to enjoy a well-earned vacation.

Our Valentine party was held on February 13. We enjoyed a number of games and contests. Later, we opened the attractive Valentine box which had been made by Virginia Sinsel and Walter Coleman. Everyone received many valentines. Lunch was served by our teacher. Other special occasions soon passed. A visit from the Easter Rabbit came in April. The annual picnic closed our school year in May.

School opened September first with sixteen pupils in the primary room. Johnny Sinsel was our only beginner. On November twenty-fourth Susan Stalker moved into the district and entered school as a beginner increasing our enrollment to seventeen.

We had our first vacation from school on October twenty-fourth when our teacher Mrs. Henrietta Gilmont attended teachers convention. On the following Monday we returned to school and began practicing very earnestly for our Halloween program that we gave with the Grammar Room on the evening of October twenty-ninth. Our part in the program consisted of the Welcome by the Beginner and First Grades, songs, Rhythm band and a play, "The Dwarfs Visit Snow White" by the second, third and fourth grades.

We had our annual Halloween party on October twenty-ninth. After a costume parade we enjoyed games and treats.

Due to the weather man and Thanksgiving we enjoyed a two day vacation on November 26 and 27.

On December twenty-fourth we had our Christmas party and exchange of gifts. Following the party we were dismissed for Christmas vacation.

In February we celebrated Valentines Day with a party and exchange of valentines.

On February twenty-third Mrs. Hazel Campbell became our teacher for the remainder of the term.

Following our visit from the Easter bunny we began looking forward to vacation days.
